

Contents

Foreword and acknowledgements — V

Introduction — 1

1 The historical perspective: A synthesis — 5

1.1 Forerunners: From classical rhetoric to the 19th century — 7

1.1.1 Classical rhetoric — 8

1.1.2 Medieval and later treatises — 10

1.1.3 The 19th century — 13

1.2 The 20th century — 16

1.2.1 Initial period (1900–1941) — 16

1.2.2 Intervening period (1942–1969) — 21

1.2.3 Final period (1970–2000) — 26

1.3 The 21st century — 28

2 Emblems and other gestures — 30

2.1 Gestures and emblems — 30

2.1.1 Pathways towards a definition of gesture — 30

2.1.2 Pathways to a definition of emblematic gesture — 39

2.2 Emblem as a category — 42

2.2.1 Emblem as a semiotic category — 42

2.2.2 Gestural continua — 44

2.2.3 Emblematicity criteria: Emblem as a prototypical pragmatic category — 48

2.3 Types and functions of emblems — 50

2.3.1 Current speech and current emblems — 51

2.3.2 Greeting emblems — 54

2.3.3 Deictic emblems — 59

2.3.4 Insult emblems — 62

2.3.5 Technical emblems or emblems for special purposes — 64

2.4 Other gestures and non-verbal acts — 65

2.4.1 Co-speech gestures — 66

2.4.2 Pragmatic gestures — 67

2.4.3 Vocal items: From sounds to interjections — 70

2.4.4 Sign language items — 72

- 3 The taxonomical task: Methodology and repertoires — 77
 - 3.1 Notation and transcription: Visual representations — 77
 - 3.2 The compilation of an emblem repertoire: Conception, types and methodology — 78
 - 3.2.1 Traditional repertoires and methods — 79
 - 3.2.2 Contemporary repertoires and methods: A sample — 81
 - 3.2.3 Past and future: Comparisons between repertoires — 84
 - 3.3 Elaborated repertoires — 85
 - 3.3.1 Current repertoires — 85
 - 3.3.2 Other repertoires — 87
 - 3.4 Gestural lexicography — 87
 - 3.5 A detailed example: A basic repertoire of Catalan emblems — 91
 - 3.5.1 Exclusions, order, and repertoire entries — 92
 - 3.5.2 Compilations established — 93
 - 3.5.3 Codification test — 94
 - 3.5.4 Informants — 95
 - 3.5.5 Questionnaires, interviews, and items — 96
 - 3.5.6 Precedent repertoires and future projects — 98
 - 3.5.7 Selection of emblems according to pragmatic and semantic features — 99

- 4 An ecological view on emblems — 103
 - 4.1 Origins and historical evolution — 103
 - 4.1.1 Illustrators or co-speech gestures and image schemas — 104
 - 4.1.2 Affect displays, adaptors and regulators — 106
 - 4.1.3 Other sources. Gestural neologisms. Language origins — 107
 - 4.2 Variation and cultural distribution of emblems — 108
 - 4.2.1 Emblems, culture, and linguistic variety — 109
 - 4.2.2 Multilingualism and emblem borrowings — 110
 - 4.3 Geographic distribution of emblems — 113
 - 4.3.1 Precedents. Emblems and classical dialectology — 113
 - 4.3.2 Gestural geography in Europe — 117
 - 4.4 Social distribution of emblems — 123
 - 4.4.1 Ethnographic analysis of emblems: A sample — 126
 - 4.4.2 A background for the ethnographic research on emblems — 129
 - 4.4.3 Everyday emblems in Catalonia: An example — 130

- 5 The cognitive and interactive dimensions of emblems — 135
- 5.1 Variants and repertoires: What does “the same emblem” (exactly) mean? — 135
- 5.1.1 Introduction: Assumptions and basic questions for the research — 136
- 5.1.2 Filtering samples: Interpreting items to elaborate repertoires — 137
- 5.2 The emblematic web: Organization of emblems within a repertoire — 141
- 5.2.1 The prototypical model: Emblems as symbolic associations — 142
- 5.2.2 The family resemblance model — 143
- 5.3 The interpretation of emblems: From context through relevance — 147
- 5.4 Relevance: Common principles and processes in verbal / non-verbal communication — 151
- 5.5 Multimodal tropes in emblemization processes — 157
- 5.5.1 Around metonymy — 158
- 5.5.2 Around metaphors — 160
- 5.5.3 Complex combined processes: Metonymy, metaphor and verbal tropes — 164
- 5.5.4 Ironic constructions — 170
- 5.5.5 Emblems and phraseology — 172
- 5.6 Emblems and interaction: Meaning and functional distribution — 174
- 5.6.1 Messages conveyed — 175
- 5.6.2 Illocutionary force — 176
- 5.6.3 Illocutionary types and values — 178
- 5.6.4 Illocution and functions: An example — 181
- 6 Conclusions and final remarks — 185
- 6.1 The research on emblems: Present and future: Pragmatic theory and multimodality — 186
- 6.1.1 A note on applications — 188
- 6.2 Emblems as cognitive constructions — 189
- 6.3 Emblems as sociocultural displays — 191
- 6.4 Emblems as pragmatic tools — 193

Appendices

- Appendix I Basic repertory of Catalan emblems — 197
- Appendix II Catalan emblems. Sample of Amades (1957) — 202
- Appendix III Catalan emblems. Sample of Mascaró (1981) — 204
- Appendix IV American Spanish gestures (Venezuela). Cardona (1953–1954) — 205
- Appendix V American Spanish gestures. Kany (1960) — 207
- Appendix VI American Spanish emblems (Colombian). Sample of Saitz and Cervenka (1972) — 214
- Appendix VII Spanish emblems. Sample of Meo-Zilio and Mejía (1980–1983) — 216
- Appendix VIII Other samples of emblems (links to illustrations and videos) — 219

References — 222

Index — 243